Easy integrations with the leading platforms for publisher-bought traffic. Implement and match each with a different key, multiple accounts, and subaccounts supported.

Spend Attribution

Collect data from different dimensions across multiple spend partners in one place. We know that different providers use different naming, and with some work with UTM parameters, you can set them all under one space.

Go the extra mile

With Yield Manager, you can have a good ad stack integration at your disposal and control the way pixel and pixel events fire up.

Collect RPS data within a session and send it as pixel events to enable buy-side algorithms to optimize for the highest returns. You can also choose and enable each pixel based on the source.
